Art Unit: 1764

The amendment filed January 3, 2002 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132 because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132 states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows:

There is no support for the now claimed limitation of a T95 point "greater than about 335°C."

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

There is no support for the now claimed limitation of a T95 point "greater than about 335°C."

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4, 6-11, 14-23, 25, 26, 28, 29, 31 and 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Angevine et al.

Angevine et al, U.S. Patent 6,150,575, teach diesel fuels which have good ignition qualities, good combustion emission performance and good low temperature characteristics are characterized by a cetane number of at least 45, a total aromatics content of 10 to 15 wt.%, a polynuclear aromatics content of less than 11 wt.% and a sulfur content of not more than 50 ppm (abstract). Table 3, columns 4 and 5 of Angevine et al, disclose preferred compositional parameters for the diesel fuel. In Table 4, Example 1, a diesel fuel having 14.0 wt.% total aromatics, 0.6 wt.% polynuclear aromatics, 13 ppm sulfur, IBP 183°C, T10 point 225°C and FBP 360°C is disclosed. Angevine et al is relied on as cited above, but differ from the instant claims in teaching a maximum total aromatic content of 15 wt.% as opposed to the instantly claimed composition having a minimum total aromatics content of "about 20 wt.%" and not requiring a T90 point of greater than about 335°C.

Applicants' claims are directed to compositions comprising "about 20 wt.% aromatics," i.e., the claims include compositions wherein total aromatics are less than 20 wt.%. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to increase the amount of aromatics in the diesel fuel taught by Angevine et al to a maximum amount of "about 20 wt.%" based on the reasonable expectation that such a diesel fuel would have similar properties, i.e., good ignition qualities, good combustion emission performance and good low temperature characteristics. As to the claimed T95 point of "greater than about 335°C", Angevine et al disclose fuel compositions having a T95 point greater than about 335°C

Art Unit: 1764

(e.g., Example 2 of Table 4). Additionally, the claimed T95 point would be rendered obvious, if not anticipated, by the 330°C T95 point of Example 1 of Angevine et al.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-32 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
